diabetes prevention program

Effective December 1, 2022, Express Scripts, in partnership with Omada Health (Omada), will offer access to a diabetes prevention program to help participants at risk for type 2 diabetes. Available at no cost to eligible participants as part of the Diabetes Care Value Program<sup>SM</sup> under your Chevron Prescription Drug Program coverage, this program is an online behavioral modification and digital care program designed to help you make gradual changes to the way you eat, move, sleep and manage stress. Included is a ready-to-use wireless scale, mobile app, support from a professional health coach, a small peer group for real-time support, weekly online lessons and interactive activities. If you meet program eligibility requirements, Omada will reach out to you directly with an invitation to participate.

The Chevron Diabetes Prevention Program, also administered by Omada, previously offered a prevention program for active U.S.-payroll employees at risk for type 2 diabetes. The Chevron Diabetes Prevention Program has been discontinued effective November 30, 2022 because the service, including similar tools and resources, is now available to all enrolled participants in the Chevron Prescription Drug Program as described above.
